

ABOUT THE SPEAKER,
ROY SLOOTHEER:

In July 2012 Roy's wife Becky was diagnosed with stage IV lung-cancer. After a 13-month long brutal battle, Becky passed away; leaving Roy and their two young boys behind. Roy was now facing not only to deal with his own grief but also that of his boys.

His strength comes from persistence and commitment to provide for those in need of help. For many years he has served others and continues to be a useful source for those seeking inspiration, help, or advice.

He decided that it was imperative to help others on a larger scale; he started to write about his passions, his thoughts, his experiences, and advise those that are in need of healing and guidance while trying to face the loss of a loved one - to cope with grief.

Roy founded Cope With Grief based on the mission to give to others, to help those in need, and to direct them onto a path of healing and recovery.

He determined that the only way to impact many is through larger events such as seminars and round-table discussions and work-shops.

Roy has also been requested as a guest speaker at other events.

DAY ONE:

On the first day, we will discuss matters such as: the "5-stages of grieving" according to the Kübler-Ross model; the "7-stages of grief" following the Wright model; the "Perpetual Stage of Grieving" & the "Soul Connections" according to Slootheer.

There will also be two guest-speakers.

The "day-one-only" option is great for those who are trying to help others that are dealing with the loss of a loved one, such as friends & family, counselors, & medical professionals.

For those who are facing the grieving process personally, this part of the seminar is imperative. It will provide a good understanding of the different grieving processes and theories that are beneficial to comprehend.

Cost:

The cost for the one-day seminar is $169.
"Early Bird" registration price is $139.

Large groups (6 or more) will receive an additional 10% discount.

Seating is limited and early registration is recommended.

DAY TWO:

The second day of the seminar consist of round-table discussions with small group exercises. Throughout the day we will focus on individual challenges and problems. To gain the most benefit from this seminar it is essential to attend both days.

The "Full" seminar includes both days. For those who are personally facing the grieving process, attending both days will provide maximum value.

Those who are assisting others with the grieving process will also benefit from the second day, since the individual challenges of those who are grieving will be explored and discussed; providing a good insight into the complications a grieving person experiences.

"They say that time heals all wounds, but it does not. Time will allow you to deal with the wounds differently. They will always be present and they will continue to hurt - less painful, but they will sting from time to time".

-Roy Slootheer

Cost:

The cost for the two-day seminar is $379.
"Early Bird" registration price is $329.

Large groups (6 or more) will receive an additional 10% discount.

Seating on day two is more limited due to the round-table setup. Register early!
